

Milk Jug Witch

Step 1

Paint the jug in two coats of green paint and let dry. While drying, assemble the body, hair, and cape.

Step 2

Bend the wire hanger into a straight line. Then bend the ends up forming the arms, as well as the middle to a point to eventually place the jug on. Wrap the ends of the wire hanger in duct tape so that they do not puncture the tablecloth.

Step 3

Take the black tablecloth, cut about a 20" piece off, and cut into 1" strips, leaving about 4" on one end to secure to the witch's hat.

Step 4

Once the base layers of the jug have dried, you can add the details! Add a witch face to the jug using the white and black acrylic paint. Let completely dry.

Step 5

Using the hot glue, secure the hair to the hat and glue the hat onto the jug. Place the jug on the middle point of the hanger. Secure it with the glue.

Step 6

Place the tomato cage upside down and place the assembled parts above on top of it.

Step 7

With the remaining tablecloth, drape each side over the arms and tape or glue it onto the hanger to secure it. Slightly pull the tablecloth up and glue it to the opening of the jug to cover the open space.

Step 8

Please exercise caution when handling the glue gun, as it can become very hot. When crafting with children, ensure that an adult is present to supervise and operate the glue gun.
